10 Oct 2017	60	Staff	Mental Health	Injury to inside muscle of L knee sustained in a minor scuffle with patient	Incident reviewed with employee: Client concerned was brought to Stanford House for the purposes of an assessment due to the inability of Te Awhina to admit and assess. The clients mood was labile and ranged from overly friendly to hostile and abusive, he was difficult to get a rapport with and was being spoken to by one of the staff who knew of this client. As the staff of five left the seclusion area a staff member left the door the exits the seclusion area unlocked making an assumption the staff member talking to the client would be following him immediately. This was not the case and the client was able to exit the seclusion area into the clinic foyer which leads to the nursing station at which point employee was the first to approach him as he entered the nursing station, he turned the client around back to the seclusion area, in doing so when entering the seclusion area RA R. Employee ended up pinned against the wall by the client, it was at that point the injury to the inner aspect of the Lknee was allegedly incurred. Staff assisted in being able to remove the client which provided a means of movement away from the client. Employee did not attend ED as at the time he had no pain however noticed pain symptoms once at home and as documented treated this himself. He reports today no ongoing pain and has FROM. 14 Oct 2017		Patient	Mental Health	Client was at N/S window and gave the gesture to light a cigarette. Became visibly angry when asked to calm himself. Became immediately more angry, aggressive, threatening.	Further deterioration in mental state as observed the previous day when client was observed to be pacing in the courtyard shadow boxing, decrease in rapport noted with familiar staff and increased agitation and restlessness. Use of PRN on this occasion assisted in calming however this only being the short term solution. Situation discussed and reviewed with RN and RN.	Complete	Physical
15 Oct 2017		Patient	Mental Health	Patient secluded	Seclusion initiated for the safety of self and others, previous attempts to maintain client in least restrictive environment unable to continue due to escalating aggression, intimidating behaviours of a threatening nature specifically aimed at a staff member which ultimately put the other clients at risk and requiring their removal from the dayroom for their safety. This client who for an extended period of time with MDT support has been on a drug free holiday with his intent to prove that he did not require psychotropic medications has ultimately appeared to have succumbed to his underlying illness to the point where he [according to him] is receiving mixed messages affecting his behaviours. Increasing restlessness evidenced with +++ pacing in the courtyard with poor to no eye contact, isolative, increased anger and marked decrease in impulse control as evidenced in the use of a steel framed table as a weapon, targeting staff and ultimately intimidating behaviours causing him to be a threat to staff and clients. Observed shadow boxing whilst pacing the courtyard - Smashed coffee mug by throwing it at the wall whilst pacing the courtyard, staff attempted to engage with him to ascertain thoughts at that time but client would not engage in discussion. - At 0730 hours Client was making gesture of wanting a cigarette. He became increasingly angry when this was not facilitated immediately. He became more hostile, agressive, loud and threatening; swearing at staff, pacing in front of the nursing station (N/S) and kicking the N/S doors, demanding staff hurry up and comply with his demand. When asked if anything else was upsetting him he denied same. He continued to make his demand, abuse and threaten staff. 0747 hours. Compiled when asked to accompany staff to A3 area. Was argumentative. Staff requested he remain there to calm himself. Observed to be pacing, kicking doors, yelling and issuing verbal abuse directed at staff. - Client requested a lighter off scribe who was NIC. I informed client he would have to wait until the medications were dispensed then all clients who smoke would be taken for a smoke. client became angry and hostile towards scribe, he commenced pacing in the dayroom. client approached the nurse's station window and indicated with sign language he wanted a lighter, scribe again reinforced he would have to wait as all other clients were doing, client then picked up a coffee table in the dayroom and threw it at the corner window in the nurse's station. - Seclusion commenced following this event occurring. - Clients debriefed at morning meeting/ CNM discussed and reviewed incident with RN and RN - Client in seclusion seen and reviewed by Dr.	Complete	Physical

9 Apr 2018	Patient	Mental Health	Verbally abusive towards staff, barricaded himself in his bedroom, made a weapon for potential use on others	Situation was extremely well managed by staff (See debrief - documents). Situation and scenarios which led to this event were part of a number of situations where the client believed he was "being poked by staff" i.e Road runner he stated was his which was not the case - threatening staff including receptionist/administration and ultimately a response of anger, the decline for the return of his TV leading to another event of anger with levels of paranoia evident throughout. Immediately following this the client made a conscious decision to stop his dietary intake inclusive of fluids. Plan implemented for his integration into communal areas which initially he refused to participate in, FBC initiated with physical observations attempted, continued to refuse food and fluid intake for a period of 4-5 days. Plan implemented with MDT approval for "a more flavoursome drink and food" item to be presented. Client accepted same on the agreement he would recommend medications and supplied hospital food with provision of access for therapeutic outing. Peer support input commenced with client ultimately returning to communal areas and also out of the A3 area and back into his bedroom at the R/C instruction. Condition for bedroom is that any items brought back into his bedroom are only those approved and sanctioned by the MDT, this in order to prevent/minimise the excessive items found in his room following the episode of baricading plus the discovery of the "weapon" he had fashioned also meant no further access to the workshop for the foreseeable future and only following MDT approval. Supported by AM staff, and duty nurse manager, CNM also. The client had been given PRN medication some 15 minutes before this incident for some observed fixed staring without an inability to distract however this spontaneous incident was not able to be predicted as to what was the ultimate outcome which unfortunately saw her being hit. The student (afterwards) stated she thought he could have really hurt her if he had wanted to which from observation and the resulting restraint by five staff appears to have been a good assessment. Some 2 hours post incident and X2 lots of PRN [one being at his own request] the client has expressed his remorse. CNM has spoken to her tutor @ approximately 1420 hours and provided an overview of this event, the student is still keen and confident to resume her placement on Monday and we have provided some guidance for her return to work. Feels safe to be at work and is not feeling any psychological consequences either. However will be monitored and supported post the event.	Patient very agitated on waking after a short sleep on admission. Unable to work with staff and accept medication. Staff have had to restrain patient for his and their own safety. Taken to a seclusion area which was more appropriate for his continued agitation and risk. Staff member involved was contacted today by scribe. feeling a little stiff but ok. Has no real bruising at this stage and his face is not sore. Advised staff member to keep in touch with scribe and let me know what other support might be helpful. A couple of hours prior to this event CNM had spent time with client discussing a number of issues related to his current presentation (Entry CP made) one of the issues was to explain to client why we were restricted to only being able to offer him (when asked) any medication which had a limit as to the amount we could legally dispense in a certain period of time, at the time CNM explained this to him he acknowledged understanding this to be the case however this appears not to have been the case. 26 Feb 2020	34	Staff	Mental Health	Strained lower back when grabbed by a client	During the restraint procedure the police have asked if it was "finished". The staff involved stated that it was meaning the IMI had successfully been administered but they still needed the patient to be restrained with a gradual release once everyone was able to exit. Unfortunately the police thought it was safe to let go completely which has then meant that client was left very vulnerable and patient has gone to attack her. Police have then been able to intervene but patient has been able to strike out at client in that short period of time. Client has been left with some discomfort post this attack which has impacted on her sleep. Client on later communication with scribe did outline that the entire event had been extremely difficult to manage but she had appreciated her teams support in ensuring she was not left in a position to care for this patient and that her team mates had rallied around her to ensure she was ok. Many of them find it very difficult to adhere to the rules that if they have leave they are to smoke out on Heads Road. This problem escalates if the weather is inclement. Writer spoke to employee post the event and she said she was ok but the behaviour from this patient is escalating towards her when she informs him to move away and not to smoke outside of front reception. Employee advised that as a safety precaution she is to ring the nurses station and ask them to stop patient's smoking outside of reception.	Complete	Verbal

He mentioned it several times and then later in the night became more vocal with his requests. Staff were unable to facilitate this request for patient due to the time of night, lack of transport and staffing levels. Also staff were very concerned that as had previously occurred patient wanted the money to give to a predatory co client (ex partner) Patient informed of same and his behaviour very quickly escalated. Some of the staff on duty have known patient for a very long time and have a good care relationship with him but have been saddened to see a considerable change in presentation with client over the last few admissions. On top of that her true COVID status was not known at that stage which made working with her much more problematic. In the event that occurred which involved employee the door opened on its own freeing the patient to move towards the main unit. Employee has been injured in her valiant attempt in preventing the patient to gain this access. 18 Apr 2020	Patient	Mental Health	Patient has had a very lengthy admission to TA and his behaviour is becoming more dangerous as he continues to stay here. There have been several incidents now that have involved staff/patients being hit, shoved, coffee being spilled over them, verbal abuse etc. This is despite him remaining in the high care need area of TA and having 1-1 care and low stimulus environment to sleep in. The combination of his mental illness, head injury is challenging to manage and client has certainly changed in his behaviour over recent admissions. Staff he used to get on well with him is targeting and increasing risk. it has become very difficult to find what manner of working with him can manage his unpredictability and increasing risk else he may need. Staff member phoned today to seek how he was after the incident. He stated he was ok but his leg was still sore. 13 Jun 2020	Patient	Mental Health	Assault on staff. Damage to Unit	Patient had been on leave and returned under the influence. Initially working with staff until asked for a urine drug screen which is usual procedure after which he became extremely volatile and aggressive towards staff and damaged property. What made the entire situation much worse was that staff on duty had no place to move patient to that was safer for them and more appropriate for the patient has the only area for this was fully occupied (due to over capacity). This problem delayed the staff being able to make a good safe plan to manage this as there was nowhere free to go to. This increased the risk for staff and their safety. Staff were chased and the nurses station was entered by patient where he continued to target CNC. Fortunately he was able to call police from his space of safety and they arrived and helped staff move patient where he had to go and calm things down. The IMI was administered and the patient was monitored under the 10/60s for breathing, colour, position, activity. These assessments did not raise anything of concern re the patient physically and if they did a plan of getting extra support to access the patient would have needed to be put in place for staff to safely access patient for further assessments - obs. This was handed over to night staff. Staff immediately post the event and some time later remain affected by this psychologically	Complete	Physical
